This image shows a full page of blank graph paper. The grid consists of horizontal and vertical lines forming small squares. There are approximately 20 columns and 30 rows of squares. The paper has a light beige or cream color, suggesting it might be aged. There are no markings, text, or drawings on the grid.

A blank sheet of graph paper with a grid pattern. The grid consists of horizontal and vertical lines forming small squares. There are some faint marks and smudges on the paper, particularly near the center and bottom right.

A full-page view of a blank sheet of graph paper. The grid consists of solid horizontal and vertical lines forming large squares, with dashed lines forming smaller squares within each large square. There are two dark circular marks on the left side of the page, one near the top and one near the bottom, possibly from hole punches or staples. A faint diagonal line is visible across the lower right portion of the page.

This image shows a vertical strip of a page from a manuscript. The page is ruled with a grid of small squares, typical of a ledger or account book. A prominent red vertical line runs down the center of the page, likely used to separate columns of data. The paper is aged and shows some staining and wear. The text is written in a cursive script, but it is mostly illegible due to the narrow strip and the quality of the reproduction.

A full-page view of a blank sheet of graph paper. The paper has a light beige or cream color. It features a uniform grid of thin, dark gray lines. The grid consists of small squares, approximately 10 units wide by 20 units high. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the page.
